

FedGlobal® Interface

As global payment demands expand for financial institutions Juniper Payments offers FedGlobal® Interface, a streamlined cross-border payment process to help meet those growing needs. Juniper has worked closely with the Federal Reserve Banks to provide an integrated ACH service that simplifies origination processes for sending cross-border payments around the world. As a result, our unique interface with FedGlobal ACH Payments provides an intuitive and efficient international ACH origination process while adding flexibility to how financial institutions manage foreign payment transmission.

About FedGlobal ACH Payments:

The Federal Reserve Banks' FedGlobal ACH Payments service offers an efficient means for sending cross-border ACH credit payments to many countries around the world.

FedGlobal Interface's wizard based template creation process makes it easy to originate and transmit cross-border payments for account to account transactions. As part of the Gateway, FedGlobal Interface offers the benefits of complete reporting, total disbursement control, streamlined processing and cost savings when compared to traditional money transfer processes.

All of Juniper Payments foreign payments modules in the Gateway include integrated printable disclosures and reporting to help financial institutions maintain compliance requirements as regulated by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and Reg. E.
